Specifically designed for students who have their own insurance, the RamCare Supplement Program pays up to $1,500 per semester for students’ illness and injury out-of-pocket expenses at the CSU Health Network. It also provides $100 per semester to spend on prescriptions, and $50 to be used toward Flex Services at the CSU Health Network.

RamCare ensures that healthcare at the CSU Health Network is provided to each student with little to no additional out-of-pocket expenses, eliminating the need for students to pay copays, coinsurance or deductible costs.
